Hello there! Thank you for reading our booklet :) For you first time players, the game manual will be released before the game is released. About The Game RPG Maker MZ - Medieval: High Seas: Hello there! Thank you for reading our booklet :) For you first time players, the game manual will be released before the game is released. About This Game - This game can be played within "RPG Maker MV." - RPG Maker MV is not free. You can purchase the monthly subscription to use this. - This game includes the purchase price, but does not include the price of the monthly subscription. - This game is not only a simple "RPG Maker MV" game. I had the pleasure of playing MMHS! I had not played an RPG Maker game in years. The RPG Maker games had not moved on from their simple sprite game engine and new advancements in game making took a while to be implemented to MMHS. MMHS is made with RPG Maker MV. One thing that I had to adjust to, was the way the AI was coded and the difficulty of the player movement and pacing. Although the AI had good ideas and play sense but I found it very predictable and aimed by a few players. This can be attributed to the fact that it was coded for an earlier release of RPG maker and it needed some updated code. I was also amazed to see that the game can be played on a tablet. I could play for an hour on my Nexus 7. Well I won't spoil all the fun for you. I would suggest that you play the game yourself and see what you can make of it. If you are a fan of Atlantis, Sengoku, Assassin's Creed or Ghost Recon, then MMHS is worth a try. If you are a fan of RPGs like "Mass Effect" or "Dragon Age" then MMHS is for you. MMHS is purely a fun game. It is definately not a game to be considered seriously. There are some areas where MMHS leaves many other games, but at the same time it shines. The story is well written and has great content and is very well animated. The audio is good as well, although some sounds need work. This is also the first time that I've played a RPG maker game (most of them are old school turn-based story games) that had the option of co-op so for a first time player I would say MMHS was very helpful! In that and have a listen. They are simply great, I haven't even left number 1 yet! XD Exit The Gungeon was my game of the year, I just don't even know how to explain its greatness to you guys. It was simple, but the problem solving is kinda mind blowing. You just have to memorize your offscreen inventory or you're screwed! >.> My baby bro (the guy who really started this mmo craze), Noel, would recommend this game to me, and when I started to listen to the soundtrack, I just knew it'd be my new favorite game soundtrack. Lol. You guys may know this, but I'm Korean. Gungeon is my first video game experience ever! My brother finally introduced me to video games when Halo 2 came out and then after that I just hooked up with my friends and played Xbox and I forgot about all my other hobbies. :3 I had like a week of my life off. I was reading The Book of Dunjinn lol. I'm still addicted to Halo. XD Anyways, I just mentioned Exit The Gungeon to someone else, and they mentioned I need to take a listen to the soundtrack. I don't even remember having the soundtrack in my collection. I swear! XD Well yeah... Can't you just tell me to do it without looking at my collection? XDD~ I can't just do it without looking at the collection. It's like asking you to grab a paddle without looking at your video games! XD I heard it first during a livestream of Oddworld: Soulstorm. I had a radio silence for a bit, waiting for the moment where the music would turn up and I would have time to jump in. When it did it was like "oh shit, GAME OVER!!!" I felt so scared, lol, I didn't have time for emotions like that. There were three ways around the game, you either had to: A, Swim to where the first oxygen can be found, C, (Both of these at the same time of course), Grab the first key and turn it. I'm only on level 9, it's really hard to die in this game! I've burned through 400dps. XD Finally, I can make more and more threads with my most favorite game of all time! XD I don't know how to express my feelings right now without just making a damned novel! FNAF and all its
