Key Macro is a plug-in for the Winzip utility which adds a new feature that allows the user to create a macro program. The program is designed to be used by technical writers, managers and managers of quality control departments. KEYMA Creates Custom Macros You can create and edit custom key macros and record them with a mouse click! The user can choose to record simple keystrokes for phrases, entire functions or click key combinations, all from a convenient mouse-click. Key Macro will work with any program that uses "hotkeys" - including Windows Mail, Notepad, MS Office and more. KEYMA can record keys, mouse clicks, text (or blocks) and entire functions. Key Macro supports UTF-8 and Unicode. All key input from the application is converted into your native keyboard format. KEYMA can be used from the Windows taskbar and system tray. KEYMA supports keystrokes from a mouse. Key Macro can be configured to run as an application, or as a service or via the Windows NT scheduler. KEYMA can be run with a single mouse click from any application that has hotkeys (as well as via the mouse, the keyboard or the system tray). KEYMA allows the user to easily record entire functions, which is a big advantage over using macros. Key Macro can record text in any application that allows hotkeys.

Key Macro can record text, blocks and entire functions. Key Macro can record complex combinations of keys and mouse clicks. Key Macro has an innovative "key-chain" feature. Any previously used key combinations will be added to the "key-chain", so the user will not have to constantly redefine his or her custom keystrokes. KEYMA can be downloaded and installed at no charge. KEYMACRO Modular Macro, Keypress Macro and Keyclick Macro You can create multiple key macros in one application! Now you can easily edit, reuse and save key macros!

Export Documentation Manager is a powerful application that is dedicated to simplifying the process of exporting, and that helps you import and manage export documents and information. It supports and tracks the whole export process, starting from the order receipt, through the invoicing and then the dispatch and the shipping, and it also keeps all the information stored in one place. Export Documentation Manager is not only a great way to manage orders and orders, it can also be used to invoice and bill clients. You will be able to print invoices from the import/export orders, so you won't need to send them by email to the client; you will have all the information at your fingertips. Moreover, Export Documentation Manager will also keep track of product information, from the order receipt until the final delivery. You can access all the stored information in the application. This includes sales and inventory information, correspondence with suppliers, invoices, delivery status, as well as the shipment to the client, so you won't have to keep a copy of everything by hand. You can also keep a backup of all these information on your computer, in case you accidentally delete some of them. Besides the information that you may need for the export process, Export Documentation Manager will store information for clients such as customer file creation, integration with the third party invoicing application and more. This includes the creation of the new customers and their data, which you can also keep as a backup. The main screen of Export Documentation Manager is divided into three sections: an overview, an import/export section and a management section. The overview section displays the current order and its description, invoices that have been imported, products, customers, their file creation, warehouse, orders, and their status. The import/export section allows you to import data directly from the internet or through a CSV file. You can search for the documents and export them by importing a CSV file with the information you need to extract from the documents. The management section includes many features and tools such as the export of reports, orders and invoices, creation of orders and orders, creation of delivery notes, creation of bills of lading, and the integration of some third party applications. Export Documentation Manager is a tool that allows you to manage orders and orders, with a view of their import and export activities. It can be used to process orders, as well as sending and sending invoices to clients. Export Documentation Manager is a
